14	Long ago, as the first melting sun of the season soaked the trees in a forest near a vast lake, a young Iroquois boy by the name of Nanani (nah-NAH-nee) slept late into the morning. THUMP. Nanani pried his eyes open and listened carefully. THUMP. There it was again! He looked around. His normally snug longhouse felt like a chilly tunnel with light tumbling in from both ends. Instead of people gathered around the fire rings talking noisily, everything was perfectly still.

1. ACCURACY RATE

Directions:

Count the number of errors that are not self-corrected. Circle the percentage of accuracy based on the number of errors. If the student's score falls in the shaded area (Hard), STOP! Reassess with a lower-level text.

	INDEPENDENT			INSTRUCTIONAL			HARD
Number of Errors	0	1–2	3–4	5–6	7–8	9–10	11 or more
Percentage of Accuracy	100%	99%	98%	97%	96%	95%	94% or less

2. RATE FLUENCY

Directions:

While the overall sound of the student's reading is fresh in your mind, use the Fluency Rubric to determine the student's reading fluency rating.

3. ASSESS COMPREHENSION

Directions:

Since students have read the entire text during their small-group lesson, you will be assessing their understanding of the whole text here. Start a conversation about the text by saying, Talk about what happened in this story. Circle key understandings. Use prompts as needed to encourage students to talk about the text. It is not necessary to use every prompt. Score for evidence of all understandings that are expressed with or without the prompt. Using the comprehension rubric, circle the number in the score column that reflects the level of understanding demonstrated.

ATTEND AND REMEMBER Nanani lived in a longhouse. He heard the thump of snow sliding off the roof. Nanani wanted to go hunting with the men so he could help feed his family, but he overslept. When he was out getting water for the broth, he ran into a friend, and they decided to play a bit. He was so busy playing, he forgot to get water for the broth. When he picked up the bucket, it was filled to the brim. He took it home to his mother and went to bed. To his surprise, the bucket was filled by sweet tree water from melting snow on the maple trees. When it was boiled down, it made the best maple syrup. Every year after that, they celebrated the gift of maple syrup.
