

Peach Pie

“Please can we have a treat tonight?” said Neal. “I really like peach pie with whipped cream!”

“We have a problem. Someone is sneaking into the yard at night and eating all the ripe peaches,” said Dad. “Tonight I will watch to see who is eating them.”

“Could it be the beaver who lives in the stream?” asked Neal. “Or maybe it is the beagle from next door.”

“No, the beaver cannot reach the peaches, and the beagle is always on a leash. I don’t know what kind of beast it is!” said Dad.

That night Dad waited. Soon a bird flew to the tree and reached for a peach with his long beak. “Stop, sneaky bird!” screamed Dad. “You will not feast on our peaches anymore!”

The bird flew away.

“That was easy!” said Dad. “Now we will have peach pie with whipped cream as a treat!”
